DEFEATS ALL GOLD IN A RATTLING

When the horses go to the post for the Metropolitan Handicap next Saturday at on's bay colt All Green, by Knight of Ellerslie-Lizzie Pickwick, will have an army of followers. Much of this support will be based upon his splendid victory at Aqueduct yesterday afternoon, when he took up 126 pounds and, with Van Dusen in the saddle, conquered All Gold, in the handicap at about seven furlongs. All Green looked to be in condition. All Gold, with the reinstated Burns up and shouldering 120 pounds, was the magnet for a pile of money at 5 to 2. so that the layers soon refused to offer better than 7 to 5. All Green, who opened also at 5 to 2, was permitted to go back in the betting to 18 to 5. The start was only fair, straggling t might be called. All Gold quickly showed n front with All Green and Flax Spinner less han a length back. At the half mile All Gold had an open length, while Robert Metcalf, with a tremendous sprint, had surged into second place, which he held from Flax Spinner by a head. Robert Metcalf continued his gallant dash for the lead and at five furlongs All Gold led him by a neck, with All Green running along in third place quite easily. But Robert Metcalf began to die away when three-quarters of a mile had been completed and the race narrowed down to a terriffic struggle between All Green and All Gold. Van Dusen decided to cut his mount wide open when he had become well straightened out for the run home and with that conclusion there was nothing left for the All Green backers to do but rush into the ring and cash, for the Knight of Ellerslie's son won, ridden out, by a clean length, All Gold taking the place from Flax Spinner

It was another hard day for the talent, four favorites being bowled over and several long shots showing prominently in the money. There were several surprising reversals of form, too, which were probably due to the condition of the track as compared to that of last week. The first race for three-year-olds and upward, at six furlongs, was a knockthree-quarters and when Woods laid him down he failed to respond and appeared to sulk on the turn.

The race was truly run and the best horse won. It was the smallest field for the Derby in years, only five horses having started. His Highness, Sannazarrow, Driscoll, Amur and Alard Scheck. The latter finished a poor last. He was inside the money up to the three-quarters a d then he lost his going. It is said that about $1),3) was bet on the race, with Scheck carrying two-thirds of it. His Eminence won in the same time made by Ben Brush in 1806, when the Derby was out from one mile and a half to one mile and a quarter. Summaries:

First Race—Five and a half furlongs—The Ruah, 116 (Winkfield), 3 to 1, won; The Lady in Bine, 111 (Glimore), 20 to 1, second; Musketo, 101 (Callaham, third Time, 106°). Bessie Mackin ran first, but was disqualified.

Sixh Race—Six furlongs—Velina Clark, 102 (J Woods), 8 to 5, won; Lecusi Blossom, 105 (Cochran), 3 to 1, second, secon out for the crowd. The word was passed around that Manitoban, with Bullman in the saddle, was the correct selection. The layers were awake and quickly made the son of Kismet a 9 to 10 favorite. Even at that short quotation the talent plunged so that the closing price was 7 to 10 and 1 to 4 place. Goebel was second in the betting at 7 to 2. while Petra II. stood third, with 9 to 2 about her. The start was not good, Goebel being virtually left. Manitoban went to the head of the procession at once accompanied by Wallabout, with Petra II. a couple of lengths back. The latter moved up at the turn and came into the stretch on even terms with the favorite. It was a hard run home, but Daly appeared to outgeneral Bullman, Petra winning by a short head in a thrilling

Out of a field of fourteen horses in the Out of a field of fourteen horses in the second event, at five furlongs, Newton Bennington's Edwin Kenton was considered the most likely to win. It was recalled that last Friday this colt, after being practically left at the post, ran through his field and finished within gunshot of the leaders, and for that reason there was a play on his chances that extended from his owner to the stable boys who had seen the colt tried out. Opening at 6 to 1, Edwin Kenton was soon favorite at 7 to 2. Cassidy got the big field away to a good start and before the horses got into a steady stride, Jean Wood, 15 to 1, was showing the way in runaway fashion. Lucrusta and Edwin Kenton bowled along behind neck and neck, with the balance string out in the dust cloud. Jean Wood led clear to the head of the stretch, where Edwin Kenton came up, and with plenty of speed made the running. Flintlock was not slow, either, with the result that Van Dusen had to drive the favorite all the way down to the judges stand, where he won by a length, Flintlock beging out Jean Wood by half a length. For the fourth race, at five furlons, the talent went wrong again. Chaminade and Equalize appeared to be the only things worth playing. April Shower, more because he had Bullman up than for any other reason, was well backed at fives, while Chaminade, that go away flying. But it did not take long to see that April Shower had a "killing under way, for after the first furlong had been traversed, Bullman had Jack Joyner's colt, so far in front that nothing short of a bullet could have eaught him.

Not satisfied with the way things were going wrong the crowd fell over itself to play the Messrs. Keene's speedy filly, Spry, to capture the fifth event, at about seven furlongs As a consequence, Spry was 7 to 5 at pot time. For half the distance it was simply a vunaway for Denman Thompson. He turned wide into the stretch, however, and Gertrude Elliott, with Van Dusen handling her skilfully, began to overhaul the "actor horse" at every jump. But Denman Thompson had enough strength left to get there by a head in a drive.

As a sort of sop to the feelings of the crowd, so it seemed, Isla, the favorite in the last race of the day, at five and a half furlongs, won all the way, being two lengths in front of Criterion. Summaries:

THE TENTH INNING. New Yorks One Run Short in Philadelphia and Share Last Place With the Chicagos -Detroits and Washingtons Win and Lead American League With a Clean Record.

Hard batting and much error-making was the order all along the National League line yesterday. There was also a liberality of run-getting. Cincinnati still leads although beaten by the Chicagos, who scored their first victory since the opening day and who are tied with the New Yorks for last place. The Philadelphias, Bostons and Pittsburgs passed the Brooklyns. In the American League the Detroits won their fifth straight game and continue to lead, hard pressed by the Washingtons. BOSTON, 12; BROOKLYN, 8.

The Bostons yesterday won from the Brooklyns at Washington Park in a teninning game that bristled with blunders. These blunders came along so fast and some of them were so ludicrous that the spectators were engaged in a more or less continued series of guffaws while an inhabitant of the bleachers was prompted to remark that "de Champeens is on de fritz to-day." The Bostons made four of their eight hits in the ninth and tenth innings while the Brooklyns made six of their seven errors in those two innings. The Bostons had played some pretty poor ball themselves earlier in the game, but they settled down to clean, sharp work in the closing innings, while the Champions performed moet unusually for them, and faded away in the stretch. Fly balls and grounders went through their hands as water goes through a sieve. There was splendid fielding mixed in with the ragged, notably the work of Lowe, Dahlen and McCreery. In a game marked by first-class fielding all through McCreery's centre field feats would have shone out strongly. Nine chances came his way, and he accepted every one of them. Three of the chances were troublesome, one in particular, a run for a low, swift liner, being a prize performance. Long. Dineen, Kitterdge and Keeler were the kickers of the day. Keeler batted well, but took occasion to grumble when called out at second. The score:

PHILADELPHIA, April 29—In one of the most loosely played games ever seen at the local grounds the Philadelphias defeated New York to-day. The home team threw the game away by costly errors, but eventually won out by tremendous hitting. Every trook how to the game excepting a muffed thrown ball was committed by the teams and at times the play was laughable. Hickman let an easy fly fall safe in right field, and then he changed places with Selbach in left field. While there he had only one chance and he made two errors on it, a muff in left field. While there he had only one chance and he made two errors on it, a mulf and wild throw. He was then changed back again. Fisher lasted four innings, and Doheny hardly did as well. ITH SCA. April 29.—Coach Jennings of the Cornell baseball team to day denied the report that he had signed a contract to play with the Philadelphia American League team after June 5. Cornell's coach admitted that he had been approached by Ben Johnson, but that he refused to sign any contract which would interfere with his present arrangement with Cornell or would prevent him from maishing his course in the Cornell law school. However, he says that he may be willing to consider an offer from a professional team for the remainder of the season after he finishes his duties here. He thinks that the offer made by the Philadelphia team as lucrative as any he would be likely to receive.

of the Ithacans best pitchers. He went on Cornell's Southern srip, and pitched fine ball in the few games in which he played. Bristol is a special student in forestry, and is not entitled to play by reason of a rule which expressly bars any special student from all athletics who has not completed a full year in the university. Patterson, a promising candidate for second base, has also been notified that he must quit athletic work until he catches up in his studies. Cornell's team will leave in the morning for Princeton. They will be absent on their trip four days.

NEW ROGHELLE, April 28.—Mayor Michael J. Dillon, who recently purchased the Cowdrey estate of ten acres on the Boston Post Rosd, between this city and Larchmont, its converting the land into a basebal field with large grand stands. When the field is completed the Mayor will turn it over to be used free of charge by all the baseball clubs of New Rochelle and vicinity. He says that his object is oencourage young men to play the national game. The ball field is near the entrance to Premium Point which is made up of wealthy New Yorkers who have homes on the Sound. It is reported that they do not favor the Mayor's scheme and may oppose it if he attempts to have Sunday games. Mayor Dillon when asked to-day if he would permit baseball to be played on Sunday. Why shouldn't the poor have a little pleasure watching a ball game?"

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN.

Side-Some Figures on Road Riding.

A cablegram received yesterday at the offices of the N. C. A. gave the information that Edouard Taylore, the handsome little Frenchman who held the one-hour record for nearly a year, will sail for New York on May the company of foreign riders who are ex-Exposition and also for the championships of the grand circuit. Taylore, by reason of his past experiences, should "have it in between these three will be a natural out-come of Taylore's arrival here. The other foreigners who are to come will bide their time, as the grand circuit does not begin until July and the big meet at Buffalo is scheduled for August.

uled for August.

Concerning the number of wheel riders that went over the Coney Island cycle path on Sunday some statistics have been gathered that are intensely interesting. The crowd was variously estimated at from 10,000 to 60,000 riders. Of course only those who went down on the west path could be counted, as those who rode up were chiefly the same ones returning. It seemed extravagant to say that out of a population of three and a half millions 20,000 went down the Coney Island cycle path on wheels. That would be more than one-half of 1 per cent. Of the total, but not quite three-quarters of 1 per cent. Here are some figures. During a lapse of one minute on Sunday shortly after 3 o'clock one man counted 29 cyclists go by. At just 330 another one-minute count yielded a result of 41. At 215 there were 17 that passed the same point in sixty seconds. At 245 a five-minute count gave a return of 188. A reporter of The Sun watched the 29 and the 188 count.

The result of computation on these figures is startling. In no case was a count made when there was a big bunch of riders passing such as a club run, for then there would go by fifty in less than half a minute. The count is startling. In no case was a count made when there was a big bunch of riders passing such as a club run, for then there would go by fifty in less than half a minute. The count was made on the steady ebb and flow, always some stragglers and every few seconds a rush, in which riders in no wise acquainted cannot along to a bunch. some straggiers and even wise acquainted came along in a bunch.

Computing the figures it is found that the seventeen to a minute means 1,220 an hour; the taenty-nine a minute means 1,20 an hour; the forty-one a minute signifies 2,469 an hour and the iss in five minutes stands for 2,256 an hour. Averaging these figures gives a result of 7,676 riders passing a given point going one way in an hour. The fiders passing a given point going one way in an hour.

Now there are many things to be considered in connection with these statistics, and yet they are valuable as a basis for estimate. In the first place the counts were made during the liveliest part of the afternoon. The riding did not go on at that same rate all day—not even an eight-hour day. The riding becan at 6 A. Mr. and did not cease till midnight.

The busy bours were between 10 and 12

began at 6 A. M., and did not cease till midnight.

The busy bours were between 10 and 12 and 2 and 4 6 ceck. At noontime there is always a pause in the rush toward the island, while the up path is alive with riders hurrying home to dinnar. The late sleepers come out with the two-session pedallers all the way from 2 to 5 o'clock. At 5 P. M. there is not much down riding, although the total of the stragglers between 5 and 6 would probably make a couple of hundred in an hour, just as the total of the early birds who are out between 6 and 10 A. M. would probably average one hundred an hour or more According to all reports of critical observers along the path last Sunday the morning crowd was as large as that of the afternoon. If the figures taken are considered to be an average for the hours between 10 and 12 A. M. and 2 and 4 P. M. the result of multiplying them by four is 30,704. This is an army, but it does not account for the stragglers of the stack hours, when the paths are far from being dull. from being dull

It is probable that the average quoted was not maintained during the morning hours and perhaps not during the hours between 2 and 3 P. M. but the total of 30, 70s for four hours might be made up by the between 2 and 3 P M, but the total of 30, 704 for four hours might be made up by the riders who were out during the other eight hours of daylight. Whatever the discount may amount to, the figures are surprising and in considering them there are several things to be remembered. The counting was done at the middle of the cycle path. Only those going toward Coney Island were tallied. There were hundreds and perhaps a couple of thousand of riders who turned off on Eighteenth avenue or Twenty-second avenue for Bath Beach and did not pass the counting place except on the way up.

It is also to be reckoned that there are many who live in Gravesend. Sheepshead Bay, Bath Beach and other places who went along the up path, on which every one was reckoned as being one who had previously gone down. The riders in these cases would swell the total of traffic on the paths. Another discount though is to be figured upon, owing to the number of riders who fit up and down and make several round trips of the paths. They would make probably several hundred to be deducted from the total. All counts and discounts considered, it looks very much as if 30,000 riders were on the paths last Sunday.

BOW LING.

The three bowlers who participated in THE SUN ndividual tournament last night were Clinch's most dangerous rivals for the championship, consequently there was another large outpouring of bowling enthusiasts at Thum & Kahlsdorf's alleys. Lockwood's riends were happy when their favorite bowler pulled out a victory in the deciding game of the first series with four strikes in the last two frames. Then Loehr defeated beam three straight games, while the latter just as easily outplayed Lockwood. The scores:
